ALBANY, N. Y .- The first gun in the legal battle to determine the right of the five suspended socialists to seats in the assembly was fired Tuesday when Morris Hilliquit, chief counsel for the defense, moved that the trial be conducted by a committee appointed by Speaker Sweet.

fill You Own?

You can't get away from this question. You must own one or the other if you mandain your family. Which is worth having?

All the methods that are provided by which a man may own his home are shaply an invitation to thrift—an effort to stimulate him on the road to prosperity.

Home ownership is the greatest asset possible for the average man and his family. It means more to them than to the man himself, because it confers a standing, a stability that is worth having. Ask your wife!

Home ownership may mean with you self-denial. It may mean that you will preduce more and thereby earn more. It may mean that you will save more systematically and thereby accumulate more. It may mean that you will invest more wisely and thereby held what you have saved.

The committee in its program has set aside one day of

that you may think your own self of the advantages to you of home ownership as well as the advantages to your country. You have no choice between these tworent receipts or home ownership. Every advantage to you lies in owning. It is possible for you if you will practice thrift.

Thrift does not mean deprivation necessarily. It means that you may eliminate unnecessary spending, be sure that you get a dollar's worth for every dollar you spend and invest the money thereby saved in safety.

The government has provided ways by which every sum of money, from twenty-five cents up to the largest amount, can be invested in perfect safety. From the thrift stamp up to the treasury saving certificate, from the treasury saving certificate to the government bonds every security is sound as can be, safe beyond question and profitable to own.

Put your money into government securities with the intention of owning your house. .

The Lima of 1920. W ELL-POSTED BUSINESS MEN were surprised at the optimistic outlook for Lima and her industries as told before a civic club, yesterday. While the men called upon represented only a few of the basic industries, it is more than probable that could representatives of every line have participated in the symposium even more enthusiasm would have been created.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS are the vital consideration of the country and to learn that architects, building contractors, foundries, railway equipment concerns, banks and other lines based on the present outlook and inquiries can see only doubling of capacity to take care of demand, shows that this is to be a year of enormous production, if labor will so permit.

NOT A SINGLE voice was raised against preseat wage scales; manufacturers and employers of every sort are perfectly willing to pay present scales and trust to volume to offset overhead and increased pay-rolls. Labor can go on and enjoy the present scales, which are almost all war scales, if labor will but try to get efficiency and become steady as in the old days. If this is done, prices of commodities will come down as they only can come, by more production.

LIMA LOOKS GOOD from every angle and we need only to boost and boom and try contentment rather than fault finding, insubordination and trouble making.

Quick-Acting Government.

W IEN THE OIL BOOM came to Central West Texas the machinery of government simply broke down under the strain. Little towns which had been wide places in the road for decades suddenly became bustling cities of 2,500 to 10,000 population—nearly all

WITHIN A FEW WEEKS the chambers of commerce in the oil fields were administering almost everything except the criminal and civil courts. Oil operators would report that a road had to be constructed and their engineers would estimate the cost. A special committee of the chamber of commerce would apportion this among the merchants, users of the road, and all who could properly be asked to contrib-

THE HAMT of going to these quick-fire special committees with their apparently limitless funds has been formed. Until the public offictels who will come as the local governments are better organized and prove that they know what is needed, they will simply be ignored The crisis showed that the informal organization called chamber of commerce not only | What Johns Hopkins really did was to establish v ould but could meet every emergency.

Blacklisting Cities

SHAVE appeared in this city announcing that a certain make of automobile is unfair to organized labor and urging that this automobile not be purchased. That is a part of the war being waged by the unions against a manufacturer considered by them to have failed to give organized men a fair deal. It is one of the recognized weapons with which unions fight and one the public accepts.

BUT ALONG with the plea to boycott this make of automobile is the admonition on the same signs to mechanics to stay away from the city in which the automobile is manufactured because there is a strike on. Should an entire city suffer and be black-listed because union men have a fight on with one concern, a very small part of that city?

Making Potato Bone Dry.

ITE SHIP, HUNDREDS of thousands of tons of potato water about the country-water which at times freezes and spoils the tubers and in other ways reduces their keeping qualities. At first blush the question of drying potatoes and turning them into flour and thus eliminating 78 to 80 per cent of water which is of no particular value seems so simple that we wonder why it was not thought of before. As a matter of fact, we already have made a fair start toward the elimination of some of this useless water in the potato crop by the manufacture of potato flour and starch. About 3,000,000 bushels of the 1917 crop were dried, made into starch or flour, and more than double this amount or the 1918 crop will be used in this industry this year.

THE POTATO-PRODUCTION pendulum swings thru such a great are that some years we are forced to import potatoes, and there seems to be no reason why in years of a surplus crop the excess should not be conserved and held over against the lean years.

England's Foreign Trade.

IN 1913 GREAT BRITAIN set a mark for December exports which broke all records and was expected to stand for many years, says the Toledo Blade. The war interrupted the enormous business of the tight little isle with the rest of the world and it would be reasonable to suppose that England would be unable to come anyways near the December, 1913, mark until the burdens and losses of the war had been shifted to a more comfortable position. Yet this is exactly what England has done. Last mouth her exports were 120 per cent greater than during the same month in 1913. During the year 1919 her exports were worth $601,000,000 more than her imports and the favorable trade balance is growing rapidly. The war has been over long enough to make several things certain and nothing is more positive than the fact that England is far from bankruptcy and a long way off from losing her foreign trade.

TOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY was founded a little more than forty years ago. Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and

To Fight Film

ENTAL SCIENCE has proved that the great tooth wrecker is a slimy film.
You can feel it with your tongue. Most tooth troubles are caused by it. It clings to the teeth, enters the crevices, hardens and stays. And teeth will discolor and decay where that film stays, however much you brush them. That is why millions of tooth brush users fail to save their teeth

That film is what discolors - not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds feed substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth

Milhons of germs breed in it They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyotrhes. Scientists have for years sought ways to combat that film, but the methods proved inadequate. Then one man, after extensive research, applied activated pepsingestant - to the film. And many clinical tests seem to clearly prove that he solved this great film problem.

We ask you to see for yourself. This pepsin method is employed in Pepsodent, and we offer a 10-Day Tube. See what it does when you use it. See the results in ten days. It will show you a way to clean your teeth as you never have cleaned them before.

See How They Glisten

Analysis shows that the film is albuminous. Pepsin digests albumin. The object in Pepsodent is to dissolve the film, then to constantly combat it But pepsin alone is mert. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed forbidden. Now a harmless, activating method has been found. And that method, used in Pepsodent, makes efficient pepsin possible. Able authorities have proved Pepsodent by convincing clinical tests. It has been adopted, and is now endorsed, by leading dentists everywhere. It does what nothing else has done, and everyone should use it. We urge you to prove it yourself. Ask us for a 10-Day Tube. Look at your teeth and see what it does. See how they glisten. Do this for your sake and your children's sake. Learn the way - the only way - to cleaner, safer teeth.

Karl passed and I stopped him, inviting him to take dinner with us. Imagine, if you can, my amazement when my lifelong friend replied:

"T'choose my company, and from now on I can choose neither of you.' Dearest, I simply saw red. I didn't mind the insult to me, but the affront to Bess was unpardonable.

Hardly realizing what I was doing, I rushed up to Karl-and you know the rest. "Of course I am sorner than I can say that you, poor innocent girl, have to suffer for my notoriety, but I am sure you would think less of a man than I am if I had not resented what Shepard said. I don't think it is best for me to come home until this blows over. The reporters are on my heels like hounds. I am going to try to take the late train for New York. "Always remember, dear, that I tore you, and I know you will be quite comfortable in our rooms.

Don't worry too much about me. Of course I shall be very lonely without you. My only comfort will be knowing that you are getting well. Your loving husband. JOHN." Slowly I tore the missive into tiny pieces and dropped them on the street as I entered my car. I was glad I was alone because I was sure that my face showed the passionate fury with which I was consumed. Couldn't Hold Herself

For a few minutes I could not hold myself enough in leash to trust myself anywhere except behind the broad back of my chauffeur. 'Drive through the park," I said.

"I will tell you when to turn to Mrs.

Gaylord's.' It didn't seem possible to me that any man could protest his love for me in one breath and then leave me to face all the sensational curiosity of our little world alone, and then while telling me he knew I should be perfectly comfortable, not to remember, that, as far as be knew, I had not I cent of money.

"I will never go back to him," I whispered to myself with stiff lips.
I fully made up my mind to divorce him on the grounds of cruelty and infidelity and for a moment I contemplated bringing Bess Moreland in as correspondent.

However, as I grew calmer, I decided that I would wait a little while and I drove to Helen Gaylord's. As I entered Helen's apartment I was met with an atmosphere of exquisite artistic taste. Evidently Bobby had given Helen carte blanche and she certainly had made her apartment a symbol of the name illumined over the fireplace—"A little place called Paradise."

and I caught a glimpse of her face I knew that even in this little place. some kind of a serpent had entered. She was more beautiful than ever. THE LIMA DAILY NEWS — THEATERS AND MOVIES SEEKS WAY TO OPERA FAME IN TEA ROOM MARGARET REACHES AMBITION IN "THE COUNTRY COUSIN"

o decided is the success enjoyed OUR OWN MOVIES by Elaine Hammerstein in her initial Selanick picture, "The country Cousin," which played here a short time ago, that movie fans have been looking forward with keen expectancy to her second success. "Greater Than Fame," which plays a two day engagement at the Lyric

Theater, starting Wednesday. "Greater Than Fame" has familiar plot, handled in an unfamiliar way. Margaret Brook (Elaine Hammerstein) is a young choir inger in a small town, who goes to New York to study for the opera. In order to pad out her scanty allowance of $10.00 a week, she takes a position as waitress in a Gramercy Square tea shop. She finds the road to fame is a rocky one, lined with poverty, disappointment, hard work and predatory males. She meets a wealthy and designing woman who assists her, introducing her to successful writers and musicians who have "lived life to the fullest," all of whom preach enthusiastically on that dectrine. But Margaret has her own theories on life and love. and the clever and surprising manner in which she carries them out gives an unusual flavor to the tale. In her new role, though it is a widely differing one, Miss Hammerstein has repeated her splendid success in "The Country Cousin." She is supported by a noteworthy cast, including Walter McGrail and W. H. Tooke. A dazzling dancing scene in the production, with Mile. Lubovska

Under its healing, snothing influence, clest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. FURS and MYSTERY An Educational Advertisement By Bluem's

The close of the nineteenth century saw fur consumption so greatly increased that all furry skins and those which resembled fur were required to meet the ever-growing demand.

At this time Russian colt was introduced to take the place of some of the scarcer skins. The hide was taken from colts killed immediately or shortly after birth and was introduced in small lots at first, but it did not prove as popular as its importers had hoped. The skins offered later were more shaggy and, after being dressed, their color and appearance were quite attractive,

After it was found that it was possible to dye these skins black with quite fair results, the demand rapidly increased, until over one hundred thousand Russian ponies were killed each year. At the start of the fashion, peny skins could be bought in Russia for in the neighborhood of sixty cents each, and when it had reached its height, about eight dollars was the usual price for dressed and dyed skins.

Long black pony coats first sold for around ten dollars; as they kept on advancing in popularity, however, the price rose to approximately one hundred dollars-brown skins of the better grades sold for much higher, some furriers getting two hundred dollarg for coats of fluffy pony skin. It is well the fashion ended when it did, for Russia found good use for all her ponies when war broke

Had it not been for this great demand for coats of pony skin without doubt Mother Nature would have had her stock of furbearing animals more sadly depleted than it now is. It is this constantly growing scarcity of the finer furs which encourages dishonest substitution.

There is nothing dishonest in the substitution of a cheaper fur for one of greater value-the dishonesty lies with the furrier who sells you the substitute for genuine and collects a genuine price. Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's
